"It's only one vote . . ." Nobody seems 100 per cent sure why growing numbers of people don't bother to vote. The "only-one-vote" idea is whacky; You don't hear people saying "It's only one dollar," or "Its only one job," or 'It's only one baby."

A cynic suggested more people would turn out at elections if voting rights were sold at $1 each on the theory that people would figure if you have to pay for it, it must be good,

A Hamilton Township committeeman, after years of talking people into performing their privilege-duty as Americans at primaries and generals, had another dry suggestion and this one had a

"If you want to get people to really turn out and vote-try to pass a law that says they cant." If the number of voters keeps on declining, somebody or some

But this isn't likely to happen. One thing that's kept America going as long as it has is a national ability to make amazing recoveries on fumbles. We may be at the point now where it's time to start recovering, if we are to stay in the game. In the next article on this voting business, a look will be taken at Monroe County, in terms of how- and if-it votes.

Floyd Wilmoth of Kunkletown, New York Butter secretary-treasurer of the recently organized county unit, said yesterday no quota has been set for Monroe County, but indicated the 100 association will endeavor to raise a sizeable amount to contribute toward the lab fund.

Farm leaders will kick-off the campaign in Harrisburg tomorrow and already have acknowledged pledges of $8,000,

State Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst explained that when the 1951 Legislature approved an appropriation bill for $137,500 for the laboratory, it was with the proviso that agriculture interests themselves raise an additional $37. 500. Horst added that unless agriculture raises that amount to match the amount in the state appropriation by the end of May. 1953, the college will receive only $100,000. He said this would provide only the building without equipment, furnishings or person

Livestock men in the state also are cooperating with the fundraising campaign. In Monroe County an effort is being made by the poultrymen to organize a cattlemen's association, also. Officials of the county poultrymen include James Ogden, president; Elmer Veety, vice president; Wilmoth Wicks and Carl Michaels, directors. Arthur Ifft, county agent, serves as coordinator and public relations officer.

Rip Van is the Voter who doesn't very often. The fuss is the growing drive by the Democratic and Republican parties, and at least 50 other powerful organizations, to get out the vote this year.

One reason for the effort is that our national pride is suffering. Less than 52 per cent of our adults voted in the last presidential election.

In recent major elections, Canada and France turned out 75 per cent of their eligible voters, Sweden 80 per cent, Britain 82 per cent, Italy 89 per cent, and Belgium 90 per cent.

It shows what can be done. But national pride isn't the big reason for the get-out-the-vote excitement.

The big reason is that shrinking participation in elections actually is endangering the American way of life. That has been said here before-now we would like to say more about it.

ians, office holders, and other persons who hope to gain in jurist, who defeated Gov. Sid McMath's bid for a third term one way or another from an election. Their families and in the Democratic primary in Arkansas. friends are there, too. If relatively few other persons appear, the votes of these "regulars" are important.

the other. Having done so, do you think they would pay much attention to the wishes of the people?

It doesn't have to go that far. When ordinary citizens stay away from the polls in hordes, office holders are likely his air-appeal to open a 75-day campaign with a 25-hour to pay less attention to them and more to the politicians who can "swing" votes.

Mine Owners Say Shutdown Violates Pact

The protest was announced by Edward G. Fox, chairman of the anthracite operators holding contract talks here with Lewis' United Mine Workers of America

Lewis so far has not attended the talks, which began Tuesday. He is in Washington.

Fox told newsmen the shutdown would violate the existing contract -a point disputed by Thomas Ken nedy, UMW vice president. Union sources said a clause in the contract specified that the men would work only when they were To Send 27 "willing and able," but the industry spokesman said this phrase disappeared in a 1950 amendment For Exams

Here is a pleasant little game that win give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to shell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, sudract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your keynumber. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Thus read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Life of Riley

Two weeks of pitching inactivity, two minutes of warming up and two bases on balls added up to plenty of trouble for the Yankees and a received his professional baseball start with the Stroudsburg Poconos and was graduated from East Stroudsburg State Teachers, College Harry walked the only two hitters to face him in the third round, as the Shillington, Pa., resident received a rush call to rescue Johnny Sain, who was being banged around like a distant cousin-by the Chicago White Sox in yesterday's game.

Schaeffer wasn't even in the bullpen when the Chisox lowered the boom on Sain, but on orders from Casey Stengel and Jim Turner, manager and pitching coach of the Yankees respectively, Harry raced out into right field and jumped the fence and then warmed up no longer than a couple of minutes, before he was called in to replace Sain. The two walks are now history and so are the thumpings suffered by Jim McDonald and Joe Ostrowski, who followed Schaeffer, Bill Miller set the Sox down in order in the final inning.

However, from all appearances, the Yankees of the 1952 vintage don't appear to be the Yanks of old, at least on the field. Although I think the present league leaders will be in the driver's seat at the end of the present campaign, even though I picked the Cleveland Indians to win at the beginning of the season, the New York club seems to be wilting under the terrific pressure being heaped on it by the club's mad desire to win its fourth straight championship and set a record under Stengel's guidance. From top to bottom the club appears tight and anxious, while Yankees of the past were relaxed and easy-going under the same pennant pressure.

Loren Babe, a raw rookie from Syracuse, of the International League, has been placed at third base in the starting lineup, due to a foot injury suffered by Billy Martin, and has also been placed at the top of the batting order, as the Bronx Bombers try desperately to acquire a suitable leadoff man. In the past, only the tried-and-true Yankees played at this stage of the season, with the rookies present for show and for the experience they might gain from watching their star-studded teammates in action.

Cleveland will move into Yankee Stadium tomorrow no worse than two games off the pace and possibly in a tie for the top spot in the real close battle at the East Seattle (A) - A Navy segment standings with the Yankees. However, the Indians have floundered around like a fish out of water in the Stadium during the past two field, with Tucker's club coming ed three of the biggest names in around like a fish out of water in the Stadium during the past two years, and will have to make a complete reversal of form if they hope up with two runs in the home half up with two runs in the home half of the National Amateur of the seventh to even the count. tions in the standings. PICTURE OF A PRIZE WINNER looking over a prize winner. Sylvia Perinotto, right above, a Pen Argyl student, won first prize for the evening gown she is shown modelling. She and Mrs. Grace Samson, Pen Argyl home economics teacher, are admiring a coat executed by Ann Berlin, which won first prize in its category. The coat and dress were two of the many entries in the homemaking department at the Blue Valley Farm Show in Bangor.
